“ I used to live up the street from Gary. I was about 10 years old , he was near 17. He collected baseball cards. He taught me about sports trivia using baseball cards . I learned more about growing up from him because he cared enough to hang around a young kid like me. He taught me to respect yourself and others. Take time to give others time to get to know who you are. He was old school, and we watched the same shows on tv. Andy Griffith was always on in his house.I will surely miss my old friend but he will always be a part of my memories I will share until I will meet him again.
